REVIEWS

385 Synthesis of Mixed Research on Posttraumatic Stress Related to Traumatic Birth

A synthesis of quantitative and qualitative studies on posttraumatic stress related to traumatic birth can provide a more comprehensive evidence base for practice.

Cheryl Tatano Beck and Sharon Casavant

398 Systematic Review of Newborn Feeding Method and Outcomes Related to Neonatal Abstinence Syndrome

Because it is associated with improved outcomes for newborns with neonatal abstinence syndrome, breastfeeding should be promoted in the absence of contraindications.

Karen McQueen, Carleigh Taylor, and Jodie Murphy-Oikonen

408 Integrative Review of Parents' Perspectives of the Nursing Role in Neonatal Family-Centered Care

The perspectives of parents show that neonatal nurses continue to provide mostly positive experiences of family-centered care in NICUs.

Shelley Reid, Sandie Bredemeyer, and Mary Chiarella

RESEARCH

418 Randomized Controlled Trial of Motivational Interviewing to Support Breastfeeding Among Appalachian Women

A single session of motivational interviewing promoted breastfeeding at one month postpartum among women of mixed parity and enhanced breastfeeding attitudes among primiparous women in Appalachia.

Sarah H. Addicks and Daniel W. McNeil

433 Predictors of Exclusive Breastfeeding Among Health Care Workers in Urban Kano, Nigeria

Type of health care worker, age of index child, type of birth, and breastfeeding knowledge independently predicted exclusive breastfeeding among health care workers in Nigeria.

Zubairu Iliyasu, Hadiza S. Galadanci, Peace Emokpae, Taiwo G. Amole, Nafisa Nass, and Muktar H. Aliyu

445 Narrative Study of the Significance of Infertility and Its Treatment for Maternal Identity

Previously infertile women constructed their maternal identities by narrating and giving meaning to experienced infertility and its treatment.

Siru Lehto, Eija Sevón, Anna Rönkä, and Marja-Leena Laakso

METHODS

456 Adaptation of the MISSCARE Survey to the Maternity Care Setting

The Perinatal Missed Care Survey appears to be a feasible and promising instrument with which to evaluate missed nursing care of women during labor and birth.

Kathleen Rice Simpson, Audrey Lyndon, Joanne Spetz, Caryl L. Gay, and Gay L. Landstrom

468 Adapting Sexual Configurations Theory to Nursing

This adaptation of sexual configurations theory provides a holistic, person-centered model to improve the sexual and reproductive health of members of the LGBTQ community.

Meghan Eagen-Torkko and Molly R. Altman
