

GERONTOLOGICAL NURSING®

FOR NURSING CARE OF OLDER ADULTS

Cited in MEDLINE/PubMed

Adhering to protocols

Exploring the relationship among clinical support, compliance, and outcomes

Uncontrolled pain in long-term care

Nonpharmacological techniques to decrease agitation in psychiatric patients with dementia

Risk of aspiration in long-term care residents

Nonpharmacological interventions for behavioral and psychological symptoms of dementia

EVIDENCE-BASED PRACTICE GUIDELINE

Late-life depression detection

Journal of gerontologic
SERIALS

004270
bib:13399108126

Earn
CONTACT HOURS

SEE PAGE 33

FEATURE ARTICLES

33

The Prevalence of Uncontrolled Pain in Long-Term Care: A Pilot Study Examining Outcomes of Pain Management Processes

Several barriers were found to inhibit optimal pain control by nurses in long-term care facilities, most notably lack of knowledge about adequate pain control and inappropriate time intervals from pain assessment to medication administration.

Heidi Good, DNP, ANP-BC; Cheryl K. Riley-Doucet, PhD, RN, FGSA; and Karen S. Dunn, PhD, RN, FGSA

44

Staff Compliance With Protocols to Improve the Management of Behavioral and Psychological Symptoms of Dementia

Clinical support from a mental health professional produced a significant increase in compliance with a new structured protocol.

David Mellor, PhD; Marita McCabe, PhD; Michael Bird, PhD; Tanya Davison, DPsych; Sarah MacPherson, DPsych; David Hollford, DPsych; and Melissa Seedy, BAppPsych(Hons)

53

Nonpharmacological Therapeutic Techniques to Decrease Agitation in Geriatric Psychiatric Patients With Dementia

A multisensory room intervention was found to be effective in decreasing some symptoms of agitation.

Ann M. Mitchell, PhD, RN, FAAN; Laurel Chiappetta, MS; Lynn Boucek, BSN, RN; Michelle Cain, BSN, RN; Georgia Patterson, AD, RN-C; Kim Owens, DrPH, RN; Camellia Herisko, DNP, PMHCNS-BC, CRNP; and Kirsti Hetager Stark, MSN, PMHCNS-BC

SECTIONS

8

Diagnosis: Dementia

Diversional and Physical Nonpharmacological Interventions for Behavioral and Psychological Symptoms of Dementia

Suzanne Fitzsimmons, MSN, ARNP, GNP-BC, CRT; Beth Barba, PhD, RN, FAAN; and Maria Stump, MSN

18

Evidence-Based Practice Guideline

Late-Life Depression Detection

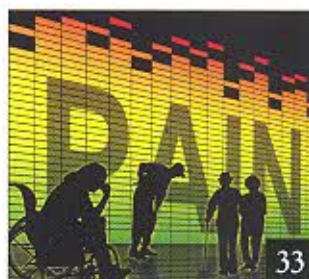

Marianne Smith, PhD, RN, FAAN; Christine Haedtko, PhD(c), RN, PCCN; and Deborah Shibley, PhD(c), RN

26

Research Brief

Risk of Aspiration in Care Home Residents and Associated Factors

Claar D. van der Maarel-Wierink, DDS, PhD; Gert-Jan van der Putten, MD, PhD; Luc M.J. De Visschere, DDS, PhD; Ewald M. Bronkhorst, PhD; Cees de Baat, DDS, PhD; and Jos M.G.A. Schols, MD, PhD

DEPARTMENTS

3 Guest Editorial

4 Erratum

5 Product News

6 News

42 CNE Quiz

60 Information for Authors

