

GERONTOLOGICAL NURSING® 40th ANNIVERSARY

FOR NURSING CARE

ห้องสมุด วพบ.สุรินทร์

วารสารฉบับล่วงหน้า

Advance Directives

Providing knowledge and support for end-of-life care decisions

Early return visits to the emergency department

Adopting evidence-based pain practices in nursing homes

Monitoring of anticoagulation medications

Managing dementia using technology

EVIDENCE-BASED PRACTICE GUIDELINE

Quality improvement in nursing homes

Journal of gerontologic SERIALS

025
bib:13399108126

Earn CONTACT HOURS

SEE PAGE 32

GERONTOLOGICAL NURSING®

025

FEATURE ARTICLES

32

Return Visits to the Emergency Department: What Can We Learn From Older Adults' Experiences?

Early return visits to the emergency department by older adults are driven by patients' perceptions of the acuity and severity of their symptoms. Timely follow-up appointments may decrease unnecessary return visits.

Victor Uscatescu, MSc(A), RN; Alyson Turner, MSc(A), MSc, RN; and Hélène Ezer, PhD, RN

44

Prevalence, Views, and Impact of Advance Directives Among Older Adults

Advance directive completion varies by demographic characteristics and is often based on patients' attitudes toward end-of-life care. Completion increases when health care providers are supportive, culturally sensitive, and attentive to patients' preferences.

Debra A. Kossman, PhD

52

A Mixed-Methods Approach to Investigating the Adoption of Evidence-Based Pain Practices in Nursing Homes

This study examined the many facilitators and barriers to adopting evidence-based pain management guidelines in nursing homes. To successfully integrate clinical guidelines into practice, all barriers to implementation must be identified and addressed.

Mary Ersek, PhD, RN, FAAN; and Anita Jablonski, PhD, RN, CNE

SECTIONS

10

Geropharmacology

Anticoagulation in Long-Term Care: How Can We Improve Medication Monitoring?

Mikel L. Holley, BA; Nicole J. Brandt, PharmD, CGP, BCPP, FASCP; and Kristin Watson, PharmD, BCPS AQ Cardiology

16

Technology Innovations

Managing Dementia Symptoms and Needs Using Technology

Chantal Kerssens, PhD; Melany Sattler, MSW; and Alisha Monteiro, MS, NCC

21

Evidence-Based Practice Guideline

Quality Improvement in Nursing Homes

Mary J. Dyck, PhD, RN, LNHA; and Theresa Schwindenhammer, MSN, RN

DEPARTMENTS

4 Guest Editorial

6 Product News

8 News

42 CNE Quiz

C3 Information for Authors

