

MCN

The American Journal of Maternal/Child Nursing®

Special Issue: Nursing Education

CE Global Education Standards
for Nurses and Midwives

Global Health Education
for Students

Teaching Strategies for Perinatal Nursing Education

Pediatric Nursing Education

CE Education to Prevent
Childhood Obesity

Simulation for Obstetric
Emergencies

Debate: Clinical Experience for Students in Maternal Child Health

วารสารใหม่ประจำเดือน

มกราคม.....2556.....

Wolters Kluwer | Lippincott
Health | Williams & Wilkins

1,517 ba11,

MCN

The American Journal of Maternal/Child Nursing®

NOVEMBER/DECEMBER 2012 • VOLUME 37/NUMBER 6

feature articles

360 Evolving Global Education Standards for Nurses and Midwives

CE

Globalization has resulted in a world that is interdependent and interconnected and that challenges us about how best to prepare a knowledgeable workforce for the 21st century.

Karen H. Morin, DSN, RN, ANEF, FAAN

367 Preparing Nursing Students for Education in the Global Village

Many opportunities exist to educate undergraduate and graduate nursing students in global health.

Patrice K. Nicholas, DNSc, DHL (Hon.), MPH, MS, RN, ANP, FAAN, Inge B. Corless, PhD, RN, FAAN, Holly Fulmer, RN, BSN, and Nancy Meedzan, RN, MSN

373 Innovative Strategies for 21st Century Perinatal Nursing Education

The characteristics of childbearing families in the US have changed; we need innovative strategies for preparing the next generation of nurses to provide these families with sensitive, high quality nursing care.

Mary Colleen Simonelli, RN, PhD and Susan Gennaro, RN, DSN, FAAN

Cover Photo: Liba Taylor / Alamy

379 Re-Envisioning Pediatric Nursing Education

Learning pediatric nursing content: Is a new paradigm needed?

Karen L. Carlson, PhD, RN

385 Faculty and Staff Development Strategies to Prevent Childhood Obesity

CE

Nurse and staff educators learn specific content and strategies for the prevention and treatment of childhood obesity in acute care and community settings.

Cynthia Dickerson Rubenstein, PhD, RN, CPNP-PC

394 Using Simulation to Teach Nursing Students and Licensed Clinicians Obstetric Emergencies

Simulations depicting emergent obstetrical scenarios such as shoulder dystocia provide hands-on practice for the obstetric health care team to improve teamwork and communication.

Jennifer Taylor Alderman, RNC-OB, MSN, CNL

This is your life.

When mother and child are counting on you, you need a source you can count on for evidence-based practice in perinatal, neonatal and pediatric nursing.

This is your website.

MCN: The American Journal of Maternal/Child Nursing Online

The innovative, all-new, next-generation electronic journals platform from Lippincott Williams & Wilkins comes loaded with personalized options for journal subscribers, including customizable state-of-the-art capabilities, self-service options you can tailor to your information needs, multimedia content, improved search options, better article readability, and more tools to help you manage content that's vital for you to deliver your best patient care.

Register online at www.mcnjournal.com

Not a subscriber? Visit www.mcnjournal.com to subscribe and find out more.

Wolters Kluwer
Health

Lippincott
Williams & Wilkins