EDITORIAL & UPDATES

FROM THE EDITOR

239 The Power of Images

Images have the power to inform us, surprise us, and move us.

Mary C. Brucker & Jennifer P. Hellwig

RESEARCH & PRACTICE BRIEFS

241 Caffeine Intake and Birth Size

Jennifer P. Hellwig

CLINICAL EVALUATION & IMPROVEMENT

248 Effect of an Obstetric Hemorrhage Bundle on Clinical Outcomes and Clinician Perceptions

Implementation of an obstetric hemorrhage bundle was associated with decreased mean blood loss, increased postpartum hemorrhage medication use, and improved perceptions among clinicians of assessments, interventions, teamwork, empowerment, and confidence.

Martha Rider Sleutel, Patricia Newcomb, Christine Elling, Linda Beaverstock & Tara Peron

257 Women's Perceptions of Hospital-Based Breastfeeding Care and the Association With Exclusive Breastfeeding

Women's perceptions of in-hospital breastfeeding care were positively associated with exclusive breastfeeding.

Martha Monroe, Ana Maria Linares & Kristin Ashford

264 Implementing a Safety Bundle to Improve Screening and Care for Perinatal Mood and Anxiety Disorders

Using an evidence-based perinatal mental health safety bundle in the outpatient setting may contribute to improved rates of screening and optimization of care for individuals experiencing mood and anxiety disorders.

Kalena Kaopuokalani Lanuza & Judith M. Butler

272 Health Care Providers' Perceived Barriers to Screening for Substance Use During Pregnancy

Identifying barriers to universal screening may facilitate development of best practices related to counseling individuals about substance use during pregnancy.

Yoko Pentecost, Kristy Schmidt & Jane S. Grassley

278 Measuring Knowledge of Fertility Preservation in Women With Cystic Fibrosis: Instrument Development and Psychometric Analysis

A newly developed instrument appears to be valid and reliable for measuring self-assessed knowledge of fertility preservation in women with cystic fibrosis.

Jessica L. Corcoran, Peng Li, Caitlin M. Campbell, Leigh A. Bray & Sigrid L. Ladores

286 Lavender Aromatherapy as a Nurse-Driven Intervention for Preoperative Anxiety

Individuals commonly experience anxiety immediately before surgery, and nurse-driven interventions for complementary therapies, such as lavender aromatherapy, may provide viable treatments.

Thomas Koehler

IN PRACTICE

296 Helping Individuals Achieve a Healthy Weight Gain During Pregnancy: A Multipronged Approach

Nurses and other health care providers can develop skills and use resources to be more effective in helping individuals achieve a healthful gestational weight gain.

Lorraine O. Walker & Sookja Kang

304 Exercise and the Prevention of Gestational Diabetes Mellitus

Exercise before and during pregnancy may reduce the risk of developing gestational diabetes.

Ashley Woodside & Heather Bradford

REVIEWS

312 Presentation, Management, and Women's Health Implications of Pilonidal Disease

CNE

Women's health care professionals should be able to recognize and intervene for acute or chronic pilonidal disease, which is often misdiagnosed and undertreated in women.

Alison Bealle Rudd, Anjanetta Davis & C. Caleb Butts

REFLECTIONS

320 On the Way to Work

At its core, the practice of nursing is about being present and helping others.

Janette O'Sullivan
